

ANZAC DAY 2020

ANZAC Day 2020 we were unable to stand together and remember as we have done in the past due to the Covid-19 restrictions. Many people stood at their letterboxes or stayed in their living rooms as part of the "Stand at Dawn" campaign and tuned into a live stream virtual Anzac Day service. It wasn't our usual service but it was conducted with dignity and reverence.

Thanks to Rod Cochrane-Lane from the Toora RSL who came to Welshpool at 9.30am and carried out the flag raising and cenotaph service, assisted by Alan from the Welshpool Post Office.

The Welshpool Cemetery flag was also at half-mast and individual flags were placed to commemorate our fallen veterans.

Welshpool & District Primary School

Never in my life could I have ever imagined the events of the past few months. While things have changed in our school, home and work lives, I am sure we will be able to reflect back on this time with amazement and pride. I am grateful for our school community in which we live and learn. The way we have worked together to ensure the education and wellbeing of our students is first class.

I have loved seeing the photos of the students in their new learning environment. So many happy faces ready to learn. While the Webex has been a challenge at some points, it has been a vital tool in allowing our students to connect with the teachers and just as importantly, with each other.

I would really like to acknowledge the work of our staff. They have accomplished an amazing feat over the past month, the re-engineering of the education process. They have moved it from the traditional model of learning and teaching to remote and flexible learning supported by online systems and one on one support. A truly remarkable achievement.

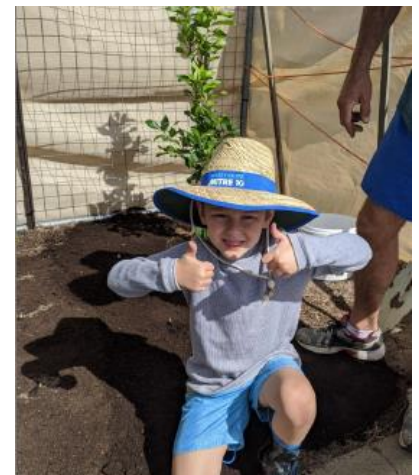

We miss you all and can't wait to see you back at school.

From my Remote and Flexible Learning space.

Free telephone and video counselling available to Welshpool residents during COVID-19

Royal Flying Doctor Service Victoria (RFDS) continues to deliver mental health and wellbeing services to rural communities despite the current COVID-19 pandemic. Our clinicians are available for free sessions over the phone and via video.

RFDS has delivered mental health and wellbeing services in Welshpool since March 2019.

"RFDS were dedicated to supporting the Welshpool residents before COVID-19, and we will continue to support them throughout and after this challenge," says Health Service Manager, Lauren Zappa.

RFDS is encouraging people to reach out and make an appointment if you are experiencing:

Alice Irving, Mental Health
Clinician

- Persistent worry or stress
- Relationship difficulties
- Financial stress

Council's COVID-19 Hardship Policy Rate Relief

South Gippsland Shire Council has adopted a new Hardship Policy to assist residents and businesses that are experiencing difficulty due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

The policy applies to all rateable properties in South Gippsland and allows for the deferral of rates up to 30 June 2021 – however the establishment of a specifically tailored payment plan is encouraged in the first instance.

Importantly, ratepayers do not need to have their hardship qualified by a financial councillor to apply for assistance and no interest will be charged on deferred rates.

Council's COVID-19 Hardship Policy application form can be viewed at

<https://www.southgippsland.vic.gov.au/rates>

Community members are encouraged to speak with a member of the rates team prior to completing the application on 5662 9200.

Port Welshpool & District Maritime Museum

Dear Football,

Some hate you, some like you, others not so sure, and then there are others that are so “very passionate”.

Back in the early 1900's is when it all started for our family. It was a way to bring two towns together so everyone could forget about the woes of life, as sport does for the duration of the game. War was brewing, some were struggling for work, and families were expanding at an uncontrollable rate. What a better way to forget about all of life's problems but sport, and you became it. Three days out of the seven in a week blokes had a time where they got with their mates to train and compete against others in the name of the club. No one was precious about anything other than the pride of the club. The competition against other towns in the area to become the best was the goal and along the way fun was had with celebrations after the games. If the scores weren't anything to celebrate, much discussion was had on how to improve.

My grandfather became President of the club and no one was more passionate than him. Players who returned from a time out fishing were sent home to rest. His sons were told to help unload the catch so these players could get a good night's sleep, because tomorrow being Saturday, a local team was to be played and these fishermen needed to be at their best. Talk about passionate. Also during these times an umpire needed to be protected as some spectators could get very vocal and fights were known to develop. Once again this same man sent his sons to the rescue.

As the years progressed the club became strong. Young men followed in their father's footsteps and wore the colours with pride. Even though some teams in the comp were quite a drive away, who cares about distance when you have pride, fun and celebrations to be had, never mind about the injuries that was all part of the game. In the days when not everyone owned a car, ask around and you could always hitch a ride with someone. At one stage, Wally Harman ran a bus to the games and I remember as a child, having to get out of the bus at the Albert River and walk across the bridge. The bus was driven across then we all got back in the bus and off to the football we went. All this happened because the bridge in question was in need of repairs.

Grounds were not pristine grassed areas, they were mud holes in winter. With the players wearing woollen jumpers and leather boots, mud was always a problem from sticking between the stops, to the weight of a wet, muddy woollen jumper. These same grounds were the home for a few sheep, well, what a better way to keep the grass cut.

As the years go on and the community changes due to the options of work for young men, the clubs ebbed and flowed. Not everyone wanted to stay on the land as farmers or battle with Mother Nature in Bass Strait. There were other options more exciting on offer for a career with more money to be earned, so off to the big smoke men ventured. Some did return on weekends to keep the club afloat, but as their lives progressed or they joined a more local club, their home club found it hard to field a team so the inevitable happened. Where previously the thought of playing for another club was not an option, it soon became one. Towns swallowed their pride and amalgamated to keep the game going in the area. Even though cars had improved and more could afford to own one, distance became an issue. Sadly after much discussion you became history for the Welshpool Bulldogs. Photos and trophies were all put into the history file. Great memories are still discussed, laughed about or whispered about. As you drive past the footy ground the goal posts are still in full view to remind us of the days gone by and where two towns joined and stood proud under your brand.

WHAT ABOUT THE GIRLS.....

Next to the footy rooms was where the girls played netball in the proud colours of the red white and blue. The draw was the same as the blokes, e.g. Welshpool V Woodside, so did the girls. I think we had a small shed, but I don't recall there being any flash change rooms, and certainly no showers but then we were out in the elements just not where the sheep wandered.

If there are any community members that have photos of Welshpool netball teams, we at the museum would love to be able to have a copy; this can be done at the museum. The museum has many team photos, trophies etc. covering the footy but none to cover the history of the netball club and it is a very important part of history.

As proudly they all wore..... Red White and Blue.
